Since 1995, MasterTech Auto Service has been servicing West County with quality automotive repair. Owner Pat Rawie has over 30 years experience in the field and is both a Certified Master Technician and Missouri State-licensed to perform emissions repair.

While other automotive repair shops are putting up the red light to certain makes and models, MasterTech gives the green light to just about everyone.

“Technology has advanced and it has gotten harder for a lot of shops to keep up with it,” Rawie said. “We hate to send customers somewhere else when we should be able to do the work.”

MasterTech is an AAA-approved repair facility staffed with ASE-certified technicians that have a minimum of 15 years experience. Technicians receive continuous training while the shop is continually updated with the latest diagnostic tools and equipment. In addition, MasterTech is licensed to perform both Missouri State Safety and Emission testing.

MasterTech Auto Service is a proud member of the West County Chamber of Commerce, the Automotive Service Association and the Better Business Bureau.

Rawie also believes in giving back to the community. He supports several charities, the St. Louis Rugby Rams wheelchair rugby team, and school sports teams through paid advertisements in school newspapers.

The highest quality parts and affordable service are offered through MasterTech Auto Service. True to their work, MasterTech provides a minimum warranty of 12,000 miles or 12 months on all repairs.
